QUALITY IMPROVEMENT WORKSHOP HELD IN NIGER

Nineteen nurses, midwives, and anesthetists from the Dosso Regional Hospital and several of its referring health centers participated in a workshop focusing on improving the quality of emergency obstetric services. The group worked together to identify some of their biggest challenges and how to address these problems, and subsequently developed action plans that outlined how the solutions will be put into place. An orientation for hospital supervisors is planned to ensure follow up and support to the hospitals that will implement the quality improvement action plan.
